ATTACHMENT A

[Micron Letterhead]

[Date]

Jose Artalejo
[Address]:

As you know, a lawsuit was filed by you and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission against Micron, alleging that the Company violated the ADA and Title VII by discriminating against you because of disability and national origin by creating a hostile work environment because of your national origin and disability, failing to reasonably accommodate your disability, disciplining and discharging you, and retaliating against you because you complained about your treatment in the workplace.

While Micron denies any wrongdoing, please accept my regrets on behalf of Micron and its management that your employment experience with the company was unpleasant and ended abruptly. Please accept my commitment that Micron takes and will continue to take the necessary steps to ensure that disability and national origin will not be the bases for the creation of a hostile work environment, nor in any discipline of employees in accordance with the law, and that no employee will be retaliated against for opposing conduct made unlawful by Title VII or the ADA or filing a charge of discrimination. In addition, please accept my commitment that Micron will continue to take the necessary steps to ensure that all requests for accommodations of a disability will be properly processed and that all complaints of discrimination will be thoroughly investigated.

Sincerely,
